Economic Session
Castro Interfere

Uruguay States of meddling in Latin American economic affairs and otherwise ens today try to torpedo the parley. About 2,000 Cuban fans gave a boisterous welcome to the arrival of Dillon and his delegation. The meeting, moments after jeering the arrival of Dillon and his delegation, was a tense atmosphere. Many of the demonstrators turned their backs when the Americans debarked from their plane at Montevideo Airport. There were shouts "Yankee go home" and the air was tense as Dillon and Guevara headed separately for Punta del Este, but there were no incidents. Rumors circulated here that President Kennedy might change his mind and attend the conference, at least for the closing days. There was no confirmation of these reports.

Two More Persons Die on Highways

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A two-car crash in Milwaukee County has taken the lives of two men, raising Wisconsin's 1961 highway traffic toll to 491, compared with 461 on this date a year ago. Bernard Ricklin, 40, Milwaukee and Donald V. Kallum, 29, of the Town of Muskego in Waukesha County were killed Friday night in a two-car collision in the city of Franklin in Milwaukee County. Ricklin's wife, Mildred, 34, was injured seriously in the crash.

Baby Sitter in Iowa Confesses 3 Small Children Died in Her Arms

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—A baby sitter described by acquaintances as one who craved love and affection was held today by police, who said she admitted that three small children she tended had died in her arms. No suspicion had been attached to Miss Mary Kathryn Madigan, 29, of Dubuque, until the county medical examiner determined that Gail Nemmers, 3, who had been left in her care Thursday night, died of suffocation. Then Police Capt. Byrne O'Brien began looking into the death of another child of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nemmers, Karen, 22 months, July 12, and the death of Michael Fitzpatrick, 4 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fitzpatrick, July 14. Charges to be Filed
Miss Madigan, who had acted as baby sitter for both of these families, told police after her arrest and after her recovery from hysteria, that she liked to "hold babies tight."
"I was trying to give them love and affection," she said.

Man, 90, Lived In Flophouse, Left $50,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Nobody knew Joe Morris was rich. Morris, 90, a wispy little guy with one eye, made the same rounds day after day. First a stroll through tree-shaded Pershing Square. Then a few hours at the Public Library, the downtown industrial section. Heading back to his flophouse room, Joe would stop at a warehouse and wave to a friend. "It's getting dark, and I'm going home just like you told me," Joe would tell Morrison McMullen, security guard for Lockheed Aircraft's storage facility at 2nd and Alameda Streets. McMullen, 55, had been sharing lunches and conversations with Joe for half a dozen years. He also had been providing him with clothes and a few dollars for shaves and handcuts.

Friday he learned Joe had died, alone and unmourned, in General Hospital on July 20—two days after he had been arrested for panhandling. "I don't believe Joe was a panhandler," McMullen said. "Joe told me he'd rather starve than beg." McMullen learned something of the else Friday: Joe left an estate estimated in excess of $50,000. The only heir announced so far in a two-car collision in the city of Franklin in Milwaukee County. Ricklin's wife, Mildred, 34, was injured seriously in the crash. admitted to probate.

Khrushchev Forbids 'Cult of Personality'

Rightists Hit At De Gaulle Over Radio

Hook Into Cable For Bitter Attack On French Chief

ALGIERS—(AP)—Underground right-wing extremists today hooked into the cable of Radio Algiers on a midday news broadcast and launched a violent attack on French President Charles de Gaulle. The startling broadcast, which came into the sets of listeners here, led many to believe that the extremists had seized the station itself, but they made no appearance.

Stops Suddenly
Officials said the secret hook-in was done in such a manner as to throw two of the regular transmitters temporarily off the air, and permitting the extremists to give the impression they were talking from the radio station building itself. The broadcast, backgrounded with military marches, continued for about half an hour and ceased abruptly.

Official French sources said Algiers was quiet. Europeans who heard the broadcast in their homes were excited, thinking another uprising was at hand. The rightist broadcast broke into a regular news broadcast on Radio Algiers. The speaker said he was broadcasting from Radio Algiers.

In the name of Gen. Paul Gardy, a fugitive army officer, the broadcast assailed De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria. It praised the organization of a secret army by the European settlers who want to keep Algeria a part of France.

'Invasion' of England by Huge Whales Repulsed

GILLAN COVE, England (AP)—An invasion of England—this time by whales—has been repulsed. Holiday makers joined villagers in a day-long battle against 50 whales Friday on the beaches around this tiny Cornish cove. Armed with oars and paddles, they drove off the mammals, some measuring up to 30 feet. The whales were believed to have sought refuge from marauding killer sharks. Villagers, fearing the beach would be littered with maledorous carcasses, put out in small boats to drive off the invaders. Time and again the whales were repulsed but came back for more.

Puts Limit On Tenure Of Leaders

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev today unwrapped a new Soviet Communist party rule book forbidding members to gain power through a "cult of personality" like Stalin developed and limiting the tenure of party leaders. The new rules, however, appeared to provide Khrushchev with an escape clause enabling him to remain in office for an unlimited period. The rules were foreshadowed last Sunday with the publication of the new Soviet communist party program, which denounced the cult of the personality and called for rotation in party office. The party program, however, was concerned mainly with broad policy, including an economic program designed to overhaul the United States in industrial and agricultural production.

Call for New Faces
The cult of personality and all violations of innerparty democracy connected with it cannot be tolerated," the new rules said. They called for new faces of one-fourth of the central committee and presidium members every four years. The general rule is that members of the ruling presidium may serve no more than three terms or about 12 years. But the out for Khrushchev was provided by a clause saying "those party leaders who, because of their acknowledged cause, said it will have at least 30 of the

GOP Group to Back Kennedy On Foreign Aid

Kentucky Senator Thinks Program Will be Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of Senate Republicans—admitted by a small minority of their party—rallied today to support President Kennedy's Treasury-financed, long-term loan program for the development of struggling new nations. Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said there will be enough Republican votes to put over the $8.8-billion loan program. The loan authority for the first year—$1,187,000,000—is part of this year's $4,326,500,000 foreign aid bill on which debate opened yesterday.

Predicts Close Vote
The big fight will come first on a proposed amendment by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., to require four years. The President to come back to Congress each year for appropriations to finance the fund. No votes are expected before Tuesday or Wednesday.

GOP Tax Revision Bill Likely to Pass Legislature

Republicans Show Concern Over Nelson's View Despite Concession

MADISON—The price may well be a million words of oratory, but it is now possible to predict that the Republicans will put a sales tax bill coupled with local property tax revision through the legislature.

Republican party discipline in the state assembly is holding better than GOP floorleaders dared to expect when they received the revision measure from the senate a week ago. It now appears likely that only two or three Republican assemblymen will vote with the Democrats on final assembly concurrence in the bill, sometime next week.

The Republican strategists are growing more pessimistic, however, about the chances of getting Democratic Gov. Nelson to sign such a measure into law, in spite of the attractive concessions such as credit refunds and income tax withholding provisions written into it. Push To Finish
But they are prepared to push the sales tax drive to a finish, nevertheless, believing that when the governor pens his veto it will be in such a way that the negotiations for a bi-partisan tax revision can be resumed in a fall session of the legislature.

The governor will be required to make some such motions, they reason, because he will be confronted with a big state treasury deficit in any event, that must be covered somehow. For the moment, the Republican commanders figure they have offered as many compromise terms as is feasible. Republicans were told repeatedly by Democrats that voting for the bill would mean almost certain defeat at the polls in 1962. But in the ballot on preliminary approval, only Republicans Harvey Gee of Wisconsin Rapids and

Allies Launch Talks in Paris

Anti-Communist Unrest Growing In East Germany

PARIS (AP)—The Western foreign ministers today opened a conference on the critical Berlin situation, determined to resist Soviet threats but willing to negotiate. Representatives of the United States, Britain and France met for the opening session at the French Foreign Ministry. The West German minister will join the talks later in the day. The start of the three-day conference coincided with intelligence reports of mounting anti-Communist unrest in Red-ruled East Germany. The theory was gaining ground in Western circles that Soviet Premier Khrushchev, now that his threats to sign a peace treaty with East Germany have touched off the current crisis, is in some danger of running into trouble in the puppet state. Intelligence reports indicate that the Communist rulers of East Germany are unable to contain the growing anti-Soviet feeling there. The situation is even being compared with 1953 when the East Germans revolted briefly against the Red regime.

Poisonous Smog 50 to 75 Hospitalized After Chemical Blaze

INMAN, S.C. (AP)—Complaints of nausea, dizziness and abdominal pains sent 50 to 75 persons to a hospital for examinations Friday in the wake of a chemical plant fire and explosion that spread poisonous smog over part of this small town. At least six persons were hospitalized at Spartanburg, about 15 miles away, where an old wing of the General Hospital was reopened to take care of the patients. None was believed in serious condition. But examinations were expected to continue.

Cleanup Homes
On the south side of Inman today, scrub buckets sloshed over with sudsy water, and garbage cans were piled with contaminated food as 30 to 40 families cleaned up the homes they had evacuated Friday. The deadly cloud broke up and drifted out of the area Friday after clinging close to the ground overnight and most of the day. Civil defense authorities had ordered the partial evacuation after being warned of possible deadly effect of the fumes.

Destroyed by Fire
The plant, located away from the main part of Inman, was destroyed by fire and series of explosions that ended early Friday. The smog cloud contained fumes from several deadly insecticides. The fire started when a mixture of methyl parathion and DDT exploded. Dr. J. C. Hedded, Spartanburg County health director, had urged the partial evacuation, which was ordered by the county Civil Defense director, Col. F. E. Hankinson. "This smog can be deadly in sufficient quantities," said Hankinson. The plant's loss was estimated at $200,000. About 4,000 people live in Inman and Inman Mills. The towns are separated by U.S. Highway 176.

Law Provides Penalty For Improper Planting

A new state law sponsored by the state conservation department at the suggestion of commercial nurserymen imposes a penalty for the improper use of forest planting stock provided by the state conservation department at cost prices. Fines up to $1,000 are provided for the use of such stock for ornamental or landscape planting. The purpose of the state-subsidized stock is the reforestation of marginal lands and the provision of game food and cover.

Boaters in State Ignore $600,000 In Fuel Refunds

Expect Drive to Use Funds for Constructing Marine Facilities

Post-Crescent News Service
MADISON — More than $600,000 a year is credited to the state highway department as a result of gasoline taxes paid by Wisconsin boaters and not claimed by them in refunds.

Boaters are becoming increasingly restless about the need for more improvements in facilities for their sport, including launching and mooring sites, and public access rights to recreational waters.

The pairing of those findings in a report by the state department of resource development on boating in Wisconsin suggests, according to Capitol sources, future legislative developments in the boating field. As the pressure upon recreational waters becomes heavier, there will be increasingly forceful demands for public expenditures for the improvement of boating.

Seek Controls Over Work on Lakes in State

Want to Regulate Lagoons, Canals Linking Waterways

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The increasing practice of enlarging or modifying streams or lakes through the construction of lagoons and canals may come under state regulation.

A regulation bill, proposing control of the state Public Service Commission through permits and inspections, has been offered in the legislature at the request of the state Conservation Commission.

Some controls are now provided in law, but they are apparently not comprehensive enough to protect the public interest in water use, as the conservation department sees it. The measure now before the state senate would require a state permit for the connection of a natural or artificial waterway used for navigation with an existing body of water. There would be public hearings. Permits could be issued only upon showing that the work would not injure public or riparian rights, and the permit could be subject to conditions.

Province Provides Four Times as Much Space Per Person Than Does U. S. in Federal Recreation Areas

BY DION HENDERSON much the tourists, a check of Just how much recreational land constitutes a pleasant optimum, like a wife's ideas for her husband's salary, is a subject that escapes much serious discussion on the fairly reasonable grounds that it isn't going to be obtained anyway.

However, the Canadians, who are in the position of being camping and general outdoor the Good Lord's favorite nephew when it comes to available wilderness lands, are not so reticent about acreage and usage.

In Ontario, for instance, there is now half an acre of provincial park space for every person in the population, and the program is still expanding.

U. S. Ratio
J. W. Spooner, Ontario's land and forests minister, points out modestly in a current progress report that this is four times as much space as the United States national and state parks provide, and the United States' ratio is not in any imminent danger of getting any better.

The Canadians, as a matter of fact, did not have much spare time when it came to calculating the boat on land acquisition. Six years ago, Ontario had only six provincial parks. Now it has 100, and none too soon. Park use jumped from about 2 million in 1958 to 5 1/2 million last year and probably will hit 7 million this season.

And, to answer the question of how much park facilities were serving the home folks and how Fast Service and Quality Workmanship are stressed at Gunderson Cleaning and Laundry, at 41 Main street, Menasha. The fleet of trucks, shown above with drivers Anthony Griesbach, Donald McGraw and A. J. Werner, are all equipped with radios. Call Gunderson's for pick-up at PA 2-7733.

Dry cleaning at Gunderson's is fast service, but of the highest quality. Clothes are left with no oily film and the cleaning brings out the brightest colors in the garments.

Part of the credit can be attributed to the vastly superior solvent used by Gunderson's. It is fast and more thorough than petroleum solvents. It dissipates in much less time and never leaves an offensive odor.

Thus garments can be dried and jackets, woolen sweaters and deodorized with less heat—which means less shrinkage than any other process. In addition, the cleaning solution is continually filtered and distilled throughout the cleaning process, resulting in a cleaner, fresher and brighter good shape. The number at Gunderson's Cleaning and Laundry is PA 2-7733. Or drop it off yourself too early to start having those at 41 Main Street, Menasha.

Receive a Dividend of Longer Flower Life by giving flower bouquets simple care during heat-filled summer days, says Riverside Greenhouse, 1236 E. Pacific street. Telephone number of the florist is RE 3-6649.

Always check the water supply on flowers you receive already arranged, Riverside warns. These are often delivered with a minimum of water to prevent spillage. Add water as necessary and check daily because in hot weather water evaporates quickly.

For flowers you arrange yourself, always re-cut the stems to allow a thorough water flow to the blooms and remove excess leaves below the water line. By all means, use clean containers. These should be scoured to remove any crusty deposits from previous arrangements.

The Riverside authorities warn to keep your arrangements out of direct sunlight and in the evening place them in a cool spot on the floor.

The florist says the ideal season for you to wear flowers, to give flowers, to fill your home with beautiful flowers every day is NOW! Summer flowers at Riverside are in great abundance—cool, colorful, fragrant and easy on the budget.

Don't forget to decorate your terrace, patio, porch or even the sheltered area of the backyard with large, informal bouquets during those summer picnics—a flower touch will quickly make any party festive, Riverside says.

Telephone your flower needs to Riverside at RE 3-6649 or stop in today at 1236 E. Pacific Street.

Vacation Time Isn't Over Yet and it is important to have your car checked periodically. This month is a good one for family trips and Joe Verrier of Joe Verrier's Service, 204 E. Washington street, urges drivers to have their cars safety-checked before any trip.

Whether you are going on a ten items mentioned in the motor vehicle department test was a good beginning. It included windshield wipers, brakes, headlights, tail lamps, signal lights, horn, steering wheel, tires, rear-view mirror and muffler.

The phone number at Verrier's Service is RE 3-8071. You can call for road service, appointments, or free pickup and delivery.

Don't wait for a sudden rain storm to see if your windshield wipers work, don't wait for strange roads after dark to check on your headlights, don't wait for treacherous hills to see if the brakes are in perfect repair.

Verrier's is headquarters for lightning-quick, super courteous service in the downtown area. It is located at the corner of East Washington and North Morrison streets and has a crew of personable, trained men, who are ready to serve your car's needs and get it on the road in the finest working order.

Verrier says that checking the

Dinner Date Takes Preference Over Theft Investigation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When Marie H. Drew returned to her Russian Hill apartment, police said she reported the following items missing: Three mink stoles worth $5,500, two portable television sets, a radio, record player, six golf clubs, luggage, a toaster, waffle iron and other appliances. Officers phoned the woman. They hoped to send some men to the apartment to gather fingerprints.

The POWER of FAITH

Prophets and Teachers

St. Luke's faith manifested itself in his Gospel and the Acts. The "beloved physician" and friend of St. Paul wrote of women with a spirit "so tender it saw further than almost any save the Master Himself into the soul of womanhood." He wrote of compassion for suffering humanity, of the universality of Christianity, and he revealed the "neighbor" whom we are to love as our fellow man in need, in the parable of the Good Samaritan.

Judge Schmiede Leaves Wife Estate in Trust

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede, who died on the bench during a murder trial Saturday, left personal property in excess of $100,000 and real property valued at $200,000.

A petition for probate of his will was filed in County Court this morning. Most of the estate will be placed in trust for his wife, Edith Schmiede, 1230 W. Lorain St. The will was dated Nov. 2, 1956. She also will receive the home, its furnishings and $30,000.

Upon the death of the wife, the entire estate will be divided in equal shares between the judge's two children, Oscar J. Schmiede Jr., St. Paul, and Mrs. John Ray Lancaster.

Counselors Should Stop Sermonizing

Institute Reports Teen-Ager Must be Allowed to Think

BY HELEN FLEMING
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

CHICAGO—Sermonizing at a teen-ager is not counseling him, say 60 school counselors getting summer training here at Uncle Sam's expense.

"Don't tell him, let him tell you" is the technique of a good counselor, according to the men and women who were selected from among 700 applicants for the special training at Loyola University.

Mom, Dad and the principal may think the counselor's job is to back them up on the "good"—but futile—advice they have been giving junior.

"Sell if you can talk him into this—we aren't getting anywhere" is their plea to the counselor, said one member of the summer institute.

Different Technique
The institute's reels of tape recordings of conversations—all made with the young person's consent—show that the counselor does no such thing.

Instead he finds out what the young person is thinking, what he wants, how he feels—and encourages the youth to look for workable solutions that are really his own.

Two major difficulties stand in the way of the teen-ager's receiving good counseling in school today, said the institute's members and its adviser, psychologist Robert C. Nicolay. They are:

The shortage of counselors who are skilled listeners, and the school's failure to give the counselor time to spend with individual students.

Half a counselor's school day, at least, should be free from testing, handing out college and career information, and advising students what courses to take, institute members say.

Every student in school should have friendly interviews with a counselor twice or more a year—

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn H. Duvall, Ph.D.

True, but it's going to be hard for "Mom" to get a job, says the Institute of Life Insurance.

Many young mothers, planning to go back to work after their children are in school, are going to compete with the large number of young people flooding the job market. If the woman has a professional background or some special training, she will find it easier to get jobs in the stiff competition with younger workers. It's education that will make the difference.

Do we know why some communities are good?
Yes—No—
Yes, we know some things about it. Communities are good because they have good local leadership. In good communities, organizations, like the PTA and other local betterment groups, flourish. Parents feel responsible, not only for their own children but for their schools, the YMCA and other community agencies. They are ready to assume leadership.

and should know the counselor's door is open to him in between times.

"In all but a few good school systems today, when you see a student sitting in a counselor's office it's because he has been called in, and the assumption of people who see him there is that he's in trouble," Nicolay said.

"Problem cases absorb all the counselor's counseling time—because he has so many other chores to handle. The gifted kid and the normal kid with minor problems can't get to him."

Representatives of Walther Leagues Leave for Convention

Always a Lovely Spot is the central court at Valley Fair Shopping Center.

It is even more beautiful today with its breathtaking exhibits of prize-winning gladioli, part of the annual Wisconsin Gladioli Show and Contest.

Once again the Valley Fair Shopping Center is drawing a huge crowd for a special event. This weekend it is the annual show of the Fox River Valley Gladioli Society.

The show is open to the public at no charge today until 9:30 this evening, and Sunday from 10:30 in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening.

The show features gladioli of every size and color in the following presentations: Single Spikes, Three Spikes, Baskets, Artistic Arrangements and Corages.

The color, grace and ruffling of these flowers is breath-taking and the great variety of arrangements presents a charming display of originality and ingenuity that is a sight to behold, according to Carl Knoll, 1961 show chairman.

All entries are in competition and will be judged to receive awards, the top winners being especially displayed at the Court of Honor. Entries will also be displayed by members of participating societies throughout the state and adjoining states.

Music during the show will be provided by Hammond Organ Studios.

NEWS and VIEWS of Local Business

Company, millers of Robin Hood Pre-sifted Flour. They introduced Robin Hood Pre-sifted Flour last January. The new way to bake without sifting is based on the fact that this particular flour is of unusually high quality and uniformity, says its miller, and that it is pre-sifted at the mill through micro-fine silk.

While other millers have been quick to adapt the "no more sifting" concept for their own flours, pioneer Robin Hood is the only one that promises "no more sifting and better baking, too." This promise, backed by three years of thorough testing, is set forth in large size newspaper advertisements which are currently appearing in many sections of the country and in the Appleton Post-Crescent.

These Days Two-China Plan for U. N. Seating Fails to Get Approval From Anyone

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
NEW YORK—The brilliant plan for the seating of the People's Republic of China in the State Department, led by Under Secretary of State Chester Bowles, who believe in a two Chinas policy, do not inform the American people that their ideas are rejected not only by Taiwan but by Peking; not only by Chiang Kai-shek but by Mao Tse-tung.

In a broadcast from Peking, aimed at Asia, on July 10, Peking said the world:

"Under the new scheme, as revealed by the U. S. press, the People's Republic of China and the Kuomintang clique in Taiwan, which has been repudiated by the Chinese people, will be viewed as successors to the China that entered the United Nations at its founding. The Kuomintang clique will be allowed to retain the seats which it has so far usurped in the security council and the general assembly, while the People's Republic of China is 'to apply to the credentials committee of the general assembly for approval to occupy an assembly seat.'"

Apparently, this plan of a two Chinas was disclosed to Prime Minister Ikeda of Japan during his visit to the United States. The Red Chinese commentator said:

"Since 1950 the United States has tried to block the discussion by the general assembly of China's representation through a so-called moratorium. This moratorium has been successful in postponing this issue for about 10 years. In the last three or four years, however, there has been an increasing feeling in the United Nations... that this moratorium formula will no longer suffice to deal with the question, that there will be more and more delegations who will think that at least the question ought to be debated on its merits and not be simply postponed." Dean Rusk declared.

According to the Peking broadcast, the United States has labored vigorously to sell this plan to the world. The Red Chinese say that James Harland Cleveland, assistant secretary of State for International Organization Affairs, and Adlai Stevenson have been sounding out countries on the plan.

There is not the slightest indication that Red China favors the two Chinas plan. In fact, the broadcast clearly indicates that it is unacceptable. The plan was first advocated by Nehru of India and has found no general acceptance among Chinese but has been held aloft for all to look at. It is one of those compromises which means nothing in the end, creates increasing difficulties, but which gives the impression of a desire to meet the other fellow at least half way. Why meet him at all? What is the political or economic necessity of meeting him?

The position is that Formosa asserts that it is the lawful government of China, recognized by treaty and a permanent member of the United Nations possessing the right of veto. Red China does not claim to be a successor to the Kuomintang regime. Rather, it takes the position that it is the lawful government of China by right of revolution. Neither side recognizes the other as coequal or for that matter recognizes the other side at all. To a Chinese, there can be no two Chinas.

Represented by Russia
Red China has been ably represented in the United Nations by Soviet Russia, which has made every possible token effort to protect Red China's interest. At no time has Soviet Russia failed to propose the admission of Red China into the United Nations. At no time has Soviet Russia recognized the existence of Nationalist China as lawful. But at no time have the Red Chinese been willing to accept any status of equality with Nationalist China.

We thus have a situation in the making which will lead to further insults to the United States. What Chester Bowles and his associates advocate is not a program that is beneficial to the United States or to Peking or Formosa. It is an Indian program, part of Nehru's effort to assert an untenable leadership in Asia. It is a scheme that denies legitimacy but supports opportunism.

There can be no reason why the American people should accept a plan of this sort and the likelihood is that they will not. Should this administration attempt to push it far along, it may become a very burdensome political issue for the President to carry. Perhaps that is why an effort was made to get Chester Bowles to resign which, of course, he did not do.

The Beer Age Question

The legislature has plainly and shamefully bungled the question of the proper minimum age for the purchase and consumption of beer.

After months of stentorian dispute, after countless motions and counter-motions, after more legislative bulletin entries on the subject than on virtually any other before them, the Wisconsin assemblymen have come up with a shallow and transparent fraud in the form of a measure that is labeled as a 19-year age limit bill.

The law now provides that localities at their option can permit the sale of beer in public places to persons 18 years of age or over. The new measure which the assembly has passed with pious pretense would change the wording of the statute slightly, while retaining, for all practical purposes, the local option rights that are available today. Any juvenile or his parent who has followed these callow maneuverings at Madison may find himself wondering about what has been going on.

Sen. Keppler of Sheboygan, we tend to believe, had the most practicable and reasonable proposal on this subject. The senator came to Madison determined to raise the minimum beer age to 21 years. He quickly realized that such a bold reform was not immediately possible. He consulted welfare and school authorities, and concluded with them that a 19-year old rule would be some insurance for keeping high school students out of public bars, while being persuaded by seniors in legislative politics that it was a fair bet to be enacted.

His hunch was right, in the senate. Senators did pass it, by a significantly heavy margin of votes. But he reckoned without the lower house of the legislature and Assemblyman McEsey of Fond du Lac. Mr. McEsey has nominated himself as the spokesman for the juvenile beer drinkers in the state, or the commercial beer interest that is distressed every time any suggestion for changing the regulatory laws turns up. We are not quite sure which group concerns him most. We are fairly sure that the young lawmaker who showed some promise when he came to Madison a couple of terms ago has caused a good deal of speculation about his strenuous labors on this measure, and his comparative indifference to others involving the public welfare.

The beer age issue now will be turned over to an interim committee for "study". The interim committee has become a kind of unemployment relief program for legislators between sessions. The same expert opinions, the same inexperienced grandstanders, the same anxious concern of the commercial beer groups, will be put on the record yet once more, so that the legislature of 1963 can equivocate and squirm and go through a sham battle again.

Russia's New 20-Year Plan

The Soviet Communist party's 20-year program for Russia holds out promises of a great many articles and services to be furnished free to all the people, not immediately and not during the next 10 years but some time during the second 10 years from now.

The announcement of the plan reveals in detail the tremendous shortages the Russian people are suffering from today. It was necessary to acknowledge these shortages in order to make the announcement of the new plan understandable to the Russians. The program announced promises free education, free school lunches, free homes for the aged and free medical care.

There is a promise that some time during the 1970s rent for homes will be abolished but the real problem is suggested by the accompanying statement that during the 1970s every family will have an apartment of its own. What the Soviet people do not have today is adequate housing. Thus the section relating to this matter in the Communist party plan goes into some detail. It is quoted as saying "the Communist party of the Soviet Union puts forward the task of solving the most serious problem of the upsurge of the well-being of the Soviet people—the housing problem.

"During the second 10 years of the 20-year plan every family including newlyweds will have comfortable apartments which will correspond to the demand for a hygienic and cultured life."

There is a further promise that the peasants' houses of all types will be replaced by new modern houses or will be modernized where that is possible. Then it adds, "During the second 10 years all living quarters will become rent-free, step by step, for all citizens."

There is a promise that some time during the next 20 years women will be given lighter and more adequately paid jobs. Promised also is that during the first 10 years there will be an increase in pay for the lower paid workers until finally "these will be raised to such a level that in our country there will be no low paid categories of workers and employees."

Among the other things promised are modern safety devices in factories, night shifts to be liquidated except where necessary, fares on buses and street cars and subways to be abolished and charges for water, gas and heating to be abolished, and there is to be "a considerable increase" in the production of automobiles.

But all of these free things supplied by government to all citizens according to their need may not be expected immediately. The new economic proposal insists that "payment according to labor will remain the principal means of satisfying material and cultural demands of the working people during the forthcoming 20 years."

And finally, to prevent present expectations from rising too much, there is a warning that this program can only be successful under conditions of peace. Evidently the present cold war situation is not considered a state of peace for the statement warns the people that necessary increases in public expenditures for defense may prevent the realization of the plan. In other words, the whole proposal is a detailed statement of the things the Soviet leaders know the people want and which they pretend to promise them but really are not firmly committed to give.

News About War in Missouri

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 8, 1861.

About 1,500 mounted rebels attacked 500 Union men coming from Atchison, Mo., on the morning of Aug. 5. The union having but two cannons, they were put to flight with a loss of 20 killed and many wounded. Two Iowa Companies were in the fight. The battle lasted two hours.

On Aug. 3, Col. Thayer left Kansas City at the head of 500 regulars and volunteers. Marching to Independence, he compelled the jailor to release a number of Union men imprisoned there for execution as Government spies.

On Thursday, Aug. 1, news reached St. Louis that the rebels were advancing in three columns, 20,000 strong. Gen. Lyon immediately set out with the First Iowa, the Second and Third Missouri and the Second and Fourth Kansas Regiments, and two or three companies of cavalry regulars.

He came upon them at Dog Spring, about 19 miles southwest of Springfield at 4 p.m. Friday. As 27 of the cavalry were descending a ridge, they encountered several thousand rebel infantry. Being unable to retreat they cut their way through with a loss of five men, including the Lieutenant, who had killed eight rebels with his own hand.

The enemy appeared in great numbers all along a valley at the foot of the ridge, but they were cut down by our artillery. Some 40 dead and 44 wounded were found on the field. Our infantry was not engaged.

The rebels retreated southward on the Fayetteville road. Another battle was expected.

BY LOUISE HALL THARP

Louis Agassiz, the enthusiastic Swiss naturalist, appeared on the American scene at exactly the right time and place. The place was Boston, the time the mid-19th century. Science was beginning to challenge religious concepts long held sacred.

When he came to the United States in 1846 as a scientist of recognized brilliance, Agassiz, just under 40, had received a doctorate in zoology and a medical degree. As curator at the University of Neuchatel he had made that Swiss institution a major scientific center. He had about 175 publications to his credit, and already had formulated his revolutionary glacial hypothesis, having become infected with the idea of a whole, pre-historic continent under a sheet of ice.

It was a foreigner, an exuberant Swiss, who first awoke many Americans to the wonders of the world of nature. Even today the name of Agassiz is nearly synonymous with the field of science that was his life. The story of this dynamic Harvard professor, who shared his home with snakes and bears, is told here by his biographer.

Drew Huge Crowds

King Friedrich Wilhelm IV of Prussia had awarded Agassiz funds for travel in America, and the scientist soon obtained the esteemed Lowell lectureship at Harvard.

Over-capacity crowds flocked to see him demonstrate his ideas concerning the great age of the earth, using his studies of marine fossils and his observations of Alpine glaciers to prove his point.

Agassiz looked more like a Swiss mountaineer than a learned professor. Longfellow wrote of a "pleasant, voluble man with a bright, beaming face." Later, he said that Agassiz had a "laugh the Puritans forgot."

From the moment he set foot on American soil, Agassiz regarded his stay as an educational mission. His philosophy was strikingly opposed to that generally in use. "My intention," he stated some years later, "is not, however, to impart information, but to throw the burden of study on you. If I succeed in teaching you to observe, my aim will be attained."

Exciting Results

And the results were no less exciting than the philosophy. People from all walks of life wanted to show Agassiz what they had seen. At Nahant, north of Boston, where Agassiz eventually had a marine laboratory, fishermen would row long distances to bring him some strange specimen.

Strolling one day into the classroom of a young teacher at a country academy, Agassiz remarked that he needed fresh-laid turtle eggs to complete a study in embryology. The young teacher promptly began haunting a nearby lake. It was on a Sunday, and there were no passenger trains, when he finally caught a turtle in the act of laying and stole the eggs. Flagg, a freight, he arrived at Agassiz's door in Cambridge very early in the morning. Down the stairs came Agassiz in his nightshirt to greet the amateur scientist with praise.

Dreamer in Action

As a child, Agassiz was so openly aware of his own potentialities that there were those who thought him conceited. At

Democrats Repudiate Own Advisory Group

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Contemplating the ultimate defeat of the Republican tax revision plan with its key proposal of a sales tax as a means of stabilizing the state income tax and reducing local property taxes, an observer might reflect about the probable results had the legislative ruling party merely presented as its own the revision formula brought in by the so-called "blue ribbon" commission.

That commission was the governor's own chosen advisory instrument. He had gotten a good deal of mileage out of the fact of its creation by his hand during his second successful gubernatorial campaign. It had almost unlimited prestige, the most respectful public reception any group of its kind has ever had. It would have been impossible for Nelson, as man of self-respect, to oppose the findings of his own advisors — as distinguished from picking and choosing from its report, as he did when left to his own intuition.

WHAT IT WAS

The so-called "blue ribbon" report puts one in mind about the celebrated witticism about the weather. Everybody has talked about it, but comparatively few are familiar with its actual contents.

The report asked for a sales tax, a broadening of the income tax base, a redistribution of state-shared taxes, and a system of income tax withholding, in its essentials.

The withholding recommendation was a kind of after-thought, an admission that higher personal income tax levies would require some form of mechanical compulsion. It was not offered on its merits, under the present income tax system, but as a necessary supplement to higher income assessments against the average man and a confession that he might otherwise revolt against the weight of his annual liability.

The report also hedged a good deal. It said in effect that the whole of its recommendations probably need not be, or could not be, enacted in a single legislative sitting. That gave the governor, for his own reasons, and the Republican legislative leaders, for theirs, the chance to pick and choose according to their own preferences, convictions, prejudices, or political exigencies.

The governor pegged his own program to the income tax, with withholding. The Republicans chose the sales tax, at a slightly higher rate, and with more dramatic returns in the way of local property tax adjustments. As far as anyone can see, they are going to head into a stalemate, and the issue will be fought all over again at a recessed legislative session later.

But if the Republicans had taken the original "blue ribbon" report, jot and tittle? What then?

The governor probably would have been forced to consent, to save face.

But he would have faced the same embarrassing necessity of repudiating his party organization, as he faces today if he is flirting with the idea of signing the Republican drafted sales tax.

Assuming that the Democrats in the legislature, in the affiliated political pressure groups such as organized labor, and in the Democratic state organization mean what they say, their party is irreconcilable on the sales tax.

They have couched their legislative arguments in absolute terms, in terms, indeed, that probably will be hard to overtake if the Democrats ever capture complete control of the state and have the actual responsibility for financing an expanding expenditure load.

The essential importance of the "blue ribbon" commission's

In 1858, Near Follansbee Pond in the Adirondacks, Agassiz, Ralph Waldo Emerson, William J. Stillman, and a group of learned companions found a temporary haven for observation and reflection close to nature. Stillman, the group's organizer, preserved the idyllic meeting at the "Philosophers' Camp" in the painting reproduced above. Longfellow refused to come when he heard that Emerson would carry a rifle. "Somebody will be shot," he predicted. As it happened, no one was.

14 he announced that he would one day head the greatest museum of his time — the Jardin des Plantes in Paris. Agassiz's father told him severely that he must prepare himself "for some humble walk in life," and not dream of such an exalted position. But Agassiz did more than dream: he went to the University of Zurich, then to Heidelberg and Munich, and finally to the Jardin des Plantes, where he became the protégé of Baron Cuvier, founder of the science of comparative anatomy.

On Cuvier's death, Agassiz was hired by the University of Neuchatel at a salary of $400 a year. This princely sum enabled him to marry Cecile Braun. He spent the next decade teaching and setting up a printing establishment to produce his expensive monographs on freshwater and fossil fish. And during this period he became possessed by his idea that at one time the earth had been covered with ice.

Beer-Drinking Bear

Just north of Harvard Yard, Agassiz established a startling household, filled with former associates from Europe and innumerable animals. In the basement lived a bear who once got loose, managed to open a keg of good German beer, and then lurched up the cellar stairs — into the midst of one of Agassiz's Sunday night supper parties. Scattering professors right and left, he climbed on the table and helped himself to dinner.

Two years after Agassiz's arrival in the United States, his wife died of tuberculosis. Agassiz sent for his son, leaving his little girls with relatives in Switzerland, and two years later married Elizabeth Cabot Cary, daughter of a Boston banker.

When Agassiz's boyhood ambition of being offered the directorship of the Jardin des Plantes became a reality in 1848, the scientist declined. The post now seemed trifling compared to the vast museum he himself planned now to build and direct in Cambridge.

Another Sponsor

Once more a sponsor came forward as soon as Agassiz proposed his plan. This time it was John Anderson, a New York merchant, who gave his island of Penikese in Buzzard's Bay off New Bedford, together with $50,000, to start the project. The Anderson School of Natural History opened in July 1873 with about 50 students, many of them women. Agassiz's charm as a lecturer was undiminished, and workmen in the midst of remodeling would put down their tools to listen to him. It was to be Agassiz's last experience as a leader in the ever-expanding field of natural science, and it was perhaps his happiest one.

Agassiz always worked at high tension and he had had several warnings of ill health the most serious a cerebral hemorrhage in 1869. One day in December 1873, he went to his laboratory feeling "strangely sleepy." He returned home earlier than usual to rest. Soon losing consciousness, he died Dec. 14 at the age of 66.

"Men who have made their mark in the history of science disappear from the history of the very center where they have been most active." So said Agassiz's son, himself a scientist of high repute. But it was Louis Agassiz, the man, whom people remembered.

The long-range significance of the Democratic position in this legislature is first, to repudiate that finding of a group that was named to provide the facts and advise expertly on the conclusions following them, and secondly, to build a party position so rigid that it will be difficult to escape from it in any circumstances less than desperate in the next half dozen years.

Wonderful Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's splendid southpaw, needs only one more victory to become the seventh pitcher in modern times to record 300 major league triumphs.

The 41-year-old Oklahoman registered his 11th victory of the season Friday night and 299th with the Braves, outpitching San Francisco's Mike McCormick 3-2. Outfielder Henry Aaron made the victory possible with a pair of home runs, the first tying the score in the seventh inning, and the second breaking the tie in the ninth.

Cardinals Win

Cincinnati's Reds, leading the league, opened a two-game lead over Los Angeles, defeating Pittsburgh 5-4. The Dodgers dropped a 4-2 decision to the Chicago Cubs. St. Louis outlasted the Philadelphia Phillies 9-8.

Frank Robinson, the league's leading home run and RBI man, drove in Cincinnati's winning run with a ninth-inning double.

The Pirates had taken a 4-2 lead in the eighth, climaxed by Dick Stuart's 17th home run. The Reds came back with four straight singles to tie the score.

George Altman slammed two homers—his 21st and 22nd—and drove in three runs to lead the Cubs to victory over the Dodgers. Sandy Koufax was the Dodger starter and loser.

Julian Javier and Jim Schaffer hit two-run doubles to lead the Cards' 12-hit attack against four Philadelphia pitchers. The decisive run, however, was driven in by Stan Musial, who drew a walk from a pinch hitter with the bases loaded in the seventh.

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A Janesville, Wis., team lost to Rockford in the Pony League Sectional Baseball Tournament here Friday but still had a chance today to reach the finals in the double elimination meet.

Rockford defeated Janesville 9-8 to advance into the winners bracket in a game featured by two home runs by Roger Johnson.

In the losers bracket, Rapid City, S. D., advanced by beating Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., 5-4. Rapid City met Janesville today as the AFL's exhibition season day. The winner of that game goes under way at 9 p.m. (EST).

The Titans rolled up more points last season—382—than any team in the AFL or the rival National Football League. But they also allowed the most points at $99.

Venturi Leads Eastern Open After 2 Rounds

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ken Venturi wished the summer thunderstorms would let loose this morning.

He's teeing off this afternoon, leading the $35,000 Eastern Open Golf Tournament after two rounds with 137, seven strokes to the good of par and one in front of a dangerous trio of Gene Littler, defending champion, Gay Brewer Jr., and Doug Sanders.

The 30-year-old Venturi started Thursday's opening round in the morning and was caught in two showers. The afternoon remained clear. Venturi, used to the variable weather of San Francisco, shot a four-under par 68 to share the lead.

Friday, Venturi was an afternoon starter and at the 14th hole he again was deluged. Luckily, he already was three more strokes under par and he matched it through the mud the rest of the way.

Locker Fires No-Hit Game For Lincoln

Bees Take Pair From Des Moines In Three-I Loop

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob Locker of Lincoln pitched the Three-I League's third no-hit game of the season Friday night, a 6-0 victory over Cedar Rapids in the second game of a double-header.

The official scorer consulted with umpires after the game before crediting Locker with the no-hitter. Ron Hunt's fourth-inning grounder went for an apparent Cedar Rapids single.

But after the game it was learned the base umpire called Hunt out, then quickly changed it to safe when first baseman Gary Johnson pulled his foot off the bag. Johnson was given an error on the play.

Struck Out 10
Locker struck out 10 and evened his record at 10-10. Just last Tuesday night Burlington's Roger Irvine beat Des Moines on a no-hitter, and Topeka's John Flavin set Fox Cities down without a hit June 27.

Locker's pitching gave Lincoln a split of the twin bill Cedar Rapids won the opener, 7-2, with a five-run spree in the second inning.

League-leading Topeka splurged for eight runs in the first inning and then outlasted Fox Cities in a 10-8 slugfest. The Foxes came back with five runs in the sixth aided by Sam Bowens' home run.

Burlington swept two games from Des Moines, 8-4 and 10-7. The Bees were held to two hits by Aubrey Gatewood until two were out in the seventh inning of the nightcap, then shoved over 10 runs in the last three innings. Bill Jackson batted in three runs in each game for Burlington.

Armed Guards Put on Some U. S. Flights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, disclosed armed guards are riding some flights operating in the United States.

"It's probably just as well not to say which ones," Tipton told the Senate aviation subcommittee Friday.

The subcommittee held hearings on legislation to make airplane hijacking a federal crime punishable by life in prison. Whether this would be enough to deter hijackers prompted discussion of the possibility of armed guards.

Two senators said they might be necessary—at least on flights within range of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

"This might be 'the best insurance we could buy,'" said Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., chairman of the subcommittee. Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., author of the proposed legislation, agreed with Monroney that "it probably would be the most constructive thing we could do."

Men in vast numbers "break" between 62 and 65. Old age sets in with wrinkles. The hunch comes to the shoulders. The arteries begin to complain. Because of the mysteries of medicine no man ever knows at 62 whether he's been tabbed or not. The worriers will suspect they have. They will be inclined to turn in their chips and quit the game.

Conditions Vary
7. Living costs are so relative they're ridiculous. A man at 62 and his wife can live happily in retirement on $200 a month if they are determined to pick the right community and a modest way of life. . . and they can be destitute on $500 a month if they aren't. So the amount of Social Security en's sake, will you do?" Most wives who are 62 or over, and who also would already be eligible for Social Security on their own, may encourage their husbands to quit.

5. Most wives, if they are under 62, won't turn their husbands to retire at 62. . . "What, for heaven's sake, will you do?"

4. A man at 62, so far as his wife is concerned, can be a particular sort of nuisance at 62 that he couldn't be at 65. Wives are going to have a far greater say on the matter of their husbands' retirement at 62 than husbands ever had on this proposition for their wives.

3. The normal, happy man of 62, if nobody is trying to discount him at the company—will never read the new Social Security proposition. And he wishes it would go away. He doesn't want to retire at 62, 65 or 70—or ever. . . and "let's don't talk about it."

2. The reduced benefits a man can get at 62 aren't enough. But they would be if more company pension plans provided a uniform increase in pension benefits through the years, instead of offering stamp money for the first 30 years of pension participation, and then paying like mad for the last three years before age 65. There is likely to be renewed agitation for pension reform.

1. Once a man can start collecting his Social Security benefits at 62 even though at a reduced size, the business practice of kissing off the 60-plus man will start dying away. Otherwise he'll quit. Women had the lever jobs. They weren't being kissed off. Two weeks notice was about all that was needed to hire a cutie who would tend the counter or type. Men must be "decompressed" from their more important jobs, and the aggressive youngsters must keep up their hope. So the man who will have to go anyway at 65 often starts getting the "furnace-room" treatment at 61 or so. . . and there's nothing he has been able to do about it until now. Where could he go?

He can now go to the Social Security office.

Britain Brought to End of Uniqueness

Economic Pressures Force Her Into Line of Conformity at Long Last

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON -- A uniform rate mergers which have thrown the chain stores all across America. For a far longer time than the total life of the United States, Britain has been an independent store. To this basic form of independence she is now saying goodbye.

She tried a middle way in a rival trade group called the European Free Trade Association, along with Austria, Denmark, Portugal, Sweden, Norway and Switzerland. The last, last hope was that thus Britain and the others would keep going in world trade, at the same time keeping their politics and their national identities separate. The notion was to avoid the sometimes chafing bonds, political as well as economic, of the Common Market.

So it is that Macmillan has now been forced to agree to put Britain into a kind of connection with continental Europe, including her old enemy, Germany, which Englishmen have not known in a thousand years.

No doubt England's business will be better in this new concert. No doubt the whole western world will be materially the stronger for it — assuming that we in the United States don't find one day that this forced entry by Britain is a little pinching on us too.

Reasons in Past
But it is needed by way of epiphany, to recount the story of what has brought Great Britain to the mother of parliamentary government, of free speech, of free trade, to this pass. Two World Wars in which the best of the British did too much damage, much as did the best of the American South in the Civil War, began the sordid process.

But what followed the second World War finished the job. This ancient land, whose quiet heroism in that war will be forever in the memory of English-speaking men everywhere, was left in poverty. Simultaneously it was necessary for the United States — and the broken British, too — to build up a ravaged continental Europe, against the unending threat of Soviet universalism.

Lost Colonies
Meanwhile, the United States, assisted by following British left-wingers at home, needlessly drove Britain from one after another of her old colonial positions. On those she had always prided herself, she found she could not do business against the Common Market, as it lowered tariff barriers for its members and taxed them against others.

The crisis of England became chronic and unbearable. And the end is not in sight nor will it be even when she enters the Common Market. The only end in sight is the end of the British Isles as a unique entity in this world's history.

Our righteous "anti-colonialism" and those in Britain, have surely won a famous victory. (Copyright, 1961)

Woman Worries About Girl With No Interest in Housework

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: The letter from the Phi Beta Kappa wife with the dirty neck who thought housework was for horses prompted me to write.

I'm distressed by the vast numbers of young people who share her views. My niece sits around reading Melville and Kant while the ash trays spill over. When her chemist husband comes home for dinner he brings it with him — in a paper bag. He also changes the baby and straightens up the place. Our son is engaged to the same type and we fear for the future. Don't you think a girl who spends four years in college should be taught how to make a bed, boil potatoes and fix a decent pot of coffee? Why don't they learn practical things in college instead of a lot of nonsense? Down To Earth

Dear Down: Higher education has a nobler purpose than teaching the nuts and bolts of home making. If a girl doesn't know how to make a bed or boil potatoes by the time she gets to college, her mother goofed.

No wife should read all day and ignore the fundamental domestic responsibilities. Such a wife probably had a mother who was either crazy-clean or a four-door slob. Now about that husband — any man who would bring home his dinner in a paper sack night after night doesn't deserve anything better.

Dear Ann: How do you tell the girl you plan to marry that you want to be her protector, her advisor, and her moral and physical strength?

Mary is five years younger than I am and at first I thought her stubbornness was due to her youth, but I'm beginning to wonder if she will ever outgrow it.

Almost every suggestion I make is met with fierce opposition. She says I'm domineering and dictatorial. Every time we have a fight (which is often) she apologizes and says I was right. I was headstrong at 18, too, but I did learn to accept guidance. Do you think she will? — C.R.

Dear C. R.: Wake up and smell the coffee, Mister. You can't force "protection, advice and moral and physical strength" on a girl who doesn't want it. And Mary doesn't want it.

Pair Weds In Double Ring Rite

St. Francis Catholic Church, Hollandtown, was the setting at 10:30 a.m. today for the marriage of Miss Mary Anne Vander Loop and Cletus Feldkamp.

The Rev. John DeVries officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass uniting the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Feldkamp, route 3, Kaukauna, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Vander Loop, route 3, Kaukauna.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Linda Vander Loop, as "maid of honor, Miss Bonnie Van Dyke, Freedom, Miss Delores Fassbender, Racine, Miss Patricia Feldkamp, Manitowoc, sister of the bridegroom, and another sister, Mrs. John Van Zee, Kaukauna. Karen Vander Yacht, niece of the bride, was miniature bride, and Jesse Vander Loop, nephew of the bride, was miniature bridegroom.

Best man was Roger Feldkamp, brother of the bridegroom, and groomsmen were John Van Zee, Allen Vander Loop, brother of the bride, James Kellen, Racine, and Norman Vander Loop, Brillion, cousin of the bride, Paul Vander Loop, brother of the bride, and Donald Feldkamp, cousin of the bridegroom, both of Kaukauna, ushered.

Van Abel's Restaurant was the setting for the dinner and will be the site of the reception, dance and supper, after which the couple will leave for California and Nevada. They will reside on route 3, Kaukauna.

The newlyweds are graduates of Kaukauna High School. The bride is employed at Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. and her husband, who was in the Navy for four years, works for Ben Vander Yacht.

Meeting Notes

Ladies Aid Society of St. John Lutheran Church, located on State St., is sponsoring an ice cream social from 4 to 9 p.m. Sunday in the church basement. Proceeds will benefit the church.

St. Mary Christian Mothers' Altar Society will receive communion in a body at the 7 a.m. mass Sunday. Members will meet at 6:45 a.m. in the church basement.

Modern Woodmen Jr. Club will hold a get-acquainted and planning meeting at 2 p.m. August 12 at Linwood Park. All members have been urged to attend. Mrs. John Schwalbach will be in charge. Regular meetings will be held at the YMCA in the fall.

What you consider virtues she views as vindictiveness. You need a more pliable Galatea, Pygmalion. Give up.

DEAR ANN: The smut you see in this envelope speaks for itself. I'm ashamed to tell you I found it in my husband's chest of drawers, under the paper lining.

Why would a happily married man and the father of three children spend money on such trash? Please notice the order blanks attached to this junk. Somebody must be making a fortune. The pictures that sell for 50 cents can't cost more than a few pennies to print.

Shall I speak to him? Is this illegal? Please give me some advice. I'm very upset. — No Name

Dear No Name: Tell your husband you found his play toys. Let him know that if he insists on degrading himself he'd better make sure the kids don't find the rubbish.

Companies that sell pornography usually walk the legal tight-rope. All trash that comes in the mail should be sent to the postal authorities for investigation. This is a lucrative business and it will continue to flourish so long as sick people continue to support it.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To and What After" which the couple will leave for California and Nevada. They will reside on route 3, Kaukauna.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

4. The boxlike room. In so many of today's rooms where architectural variety is sadly lacking, mural wallpaper can help to keep all four walls from looking so much alike. A vastly improving change of pace comes with mural pattern on just one wall.

Never Squander Your Own Trump in Playing

The inexperienced player loves practice is that it seldom leads to bloodshed. Sometimes it costs you nothing to ruff in your own hand; and even if the ruff is costly, your partner may be looking the other way at the crucial moment.

Let's take a simple example. You have A-K-Q-J of spades, the trump suit, and no hearts. Dummy has Q-J-10 of spades, and two or three small hearts. There is no advantage in getting over to dummy and ruffing a heart with one of your low trumps.

Your trumps are going to be good even if you don't use them for ruffing. If you avoid wasting pace later in the play.

Not Poor Play

Mind you, this doesn't mean that ruffing in your own hand is always what the club ruff has to do with ways poor play. In a cross-ruff you the ace of spades, but it all comes out of your own hand. In a dummy reversal you ruff dummy's losers with your own trumps and then draw trumps by leading East steps up with the king of hearts. The opponents may be eager to West discards a heart, just as he make you ruff, and you may be did before, so that West just is doing their work for them.

The ride for most bridge hands: diamonds.

You gain a trick by ruffing a loser with one of dummy's low club and ruff with dummy's low trumps; you gain nothing by ruffing in your own hand with a trumps with dummy's ace and trump that is going to be good queen, but then declarer has the problem of getting to his own hand to draw West's last trump. There is no way to do so. Dummy has only red cards, and South of the most interesting hands of most put himself in the middle no the year is contributed by Jeff Rummatter what he leads from dummy.

Y Garden Club Lists Future Tour Plans

The Y Garden Club visited the hilly garden at the home of Mrs. Glen Fischer, Oshkosh, recently. Mrs. Harold Swenson had charge of program arrangements.

The group has scheduled a visit to the cactus garden of Marvin Griesbach, 1012 W. Packard St., at 6:30 p.m. Monday. Tour chairman is Mrs. Clarice Stack.

To Name Officers

August 14 has been set for the club's garden patio picnic for my. West's nine of spades cannot be shot out.

At first glance, it would appear that South's eight of spades is bound to be good sooner or later. As we have seen, however, appearances are deceptive.

South must make sure of a trick with the eight of spades by ruffing early. After cashing dummy's top hearts, declarer must lead another heart from the dummy at the fourth trick and ruff in his own hand with a low trump.

South can then lead a club and go ahead with the plan of getting a club ruff. South will be put in the middle by repeated diamond leads, but he can ruff with high trumps quite safely. He uses one of his low trumps on the early ruff and plays the other two low trumps, eventually, on dummy's ace and queen.

Ice Cream Social

Outer Space Was the timely theme chosen by playgrounders at City Park for their annual ice cream social Wednesday. The youngsters made a paper space ship and had it poised for blast-off. The countdown began at 6 p.m. and shortly after 8 p.m. clean-up operations were underway.

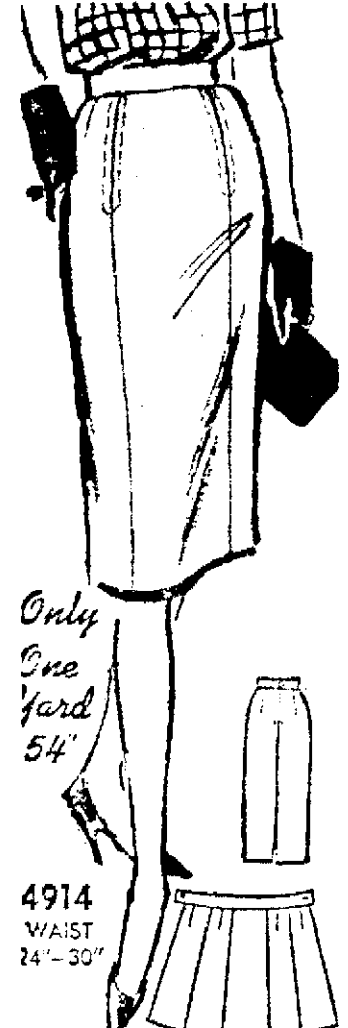

Taking part in the venture were waitresses who wore costumes of their various planets. Each was equipped with a paper hat whose antenna kept them in touch with orders from their respective leaders.

Captured during the invasion were parents and younger brothers and sisters. Also victims of the lure of ice cream and cake were neighborhood small fry, who eagerly acquired the problems of manipulating ice cream bars on a warm and humid evening.

At left, Cheryl Coleman, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman, shows the seriousness of the project and the difficulties involved in its successful completion. Below, Paul McCann, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCann, receives his cosmic rations from Barbara Stumpf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stumpf.

Cars Can be Creative Outlet for Young Boys

BY ANGELO PATRI

Cars have a great fascination for boys. They love the speed of them; and the feeling of power they get as they take hold of the wheel is a heady boost to their egos.

Since they live in a world that moves on rubber tires driven by powerful engines, they might just as well begin learning about them: what makes them run, their sensible use, the dangers that lie in their misuse, etc. This field of mechanics should be taught to both boys and girls in every secondary school in the land.

There will be no difficulty in interesting boys in cars. That interest is already fever high. That

To Repeat Marriage Vows Today

Nuptial promises will be repeated by Ellen Gertrude Bobholz and Dalton Melvin Wolfrath at 4 p.m. today at Trinity Lutheran Church, Friesland. The double ring ceremony, which unites the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Bobholz, Friesland, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wolfrath, New London, will be performed by the Rev. John P. Meyer.

The bride's sister, Miss Marlon Bobholz, Madison, will be maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. John Murphy, Markesan, and Miss Sandra Pribbenow, New London, a cousin of the bridegroom.

Dennis Radichel, Montello, will be his friend's best man. Duties of groomsmen will be performed by Robert Wolfrath, New London, the bridegroom's brother, and Gerald Bobholz, Friesland, brother of the bride. Ushers will be Richard Wolfrath, New London, the bridegroom's brother, and Karl Bobholz, Cambria, cousin of the bride.

A reception will be held in honor of the couple from 5 to 8 p.m. at Friesland School Dining Hall. The pair will live at Hortonville.

The bride graduated from Randolph High School, Randolph, and Bethany Lutheran College, Markesan, Minn. She is a teacher at St. Paul Lutheran School, Appleton. # PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

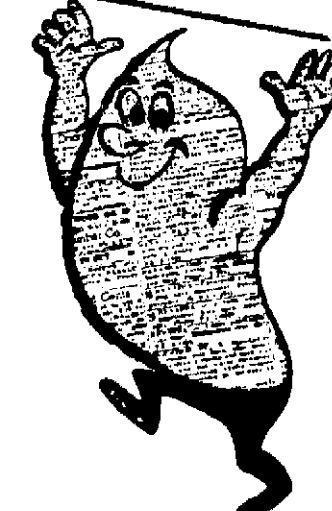

BY A. W. MOLLER, D.V.M.

Q. I would like to become a veterinarian, but my mother says that the veterinary practice is dying out. Could you give me the true facts on this and your opinions? Jean Smith, Sandusky, Ohio.

A. Far from dying out, veterinary practice is booming. City people think only of the pet doctor, but veterinarians are in charge of the animals we use in our space programs and those which guard our military installations. The health of animal colonies used in research at scientific centers is maintained by veterinarians. Veterinarians keep healthy the live stock industry which furnishes our food; they inspect for the federal government most of the meat and poultry we eat; they inspect for local authorities the milking cows, to insure the safety of the milk a baby drinks. All food of animal origin consumed by our armed forces is first veterinarian inspected. This is only an incomplete list of a rapidly expanding field. It's a good career.

is why a father who helps his boy get hold of an ancient car, tinkers with it, searches the lots for parts, gets it in shape to run, is doing something very worth while for him.

Learning Skills

A boy who can spend his spare time on his jalopy, use his spare cash for its needs, will have no time for getting into mischief. He will be too busy acquiring valuable information and skill. This is a good summer project for boys in the early years of adolescence.

Of course, they need friendly help. Of course, they need supervision. If their fathers have not the time or the inclination, there is usually a friendly garage man or scout master who will lend a willing ear and a helping hand.

The boy may never run the car. That is not the main idea. What we intend by allowing him this experience in an education of relating to cars on the road, his and the other people's. We hope he is coming to learn why the wheels turn and how to make them turn, with safety to himself and to other people. We hope he is learning some of the fundamentals of mechanics.

Potential Driver

We are not seeing him either as a mechanic or as an engineer or as a scientist. We are looking at him as a potential car owner and driver. We hope he is taking his first steps toward becoming a successful, safe one.

"Souping up" the car is out. This is no field for the potential car owner who is not concerned with high speed on the highway, but is greatly concerned with safety there. Nor do we want a boy to use an unsafe car on the roads. Only when his car has been inspected and approved, is he to venture on the road with it.

Meanwhile an old car near the home garage is a fine summer project for a boy or a girl. If a girl feels that way, why not? She is the potential family driver.

The Ailing House

Idle Home Should be Protected

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

When he takes off on vacation, many a home owner unwittingly leaves his house an open invitation for intruders to break in.

How about you? It's a pretty dismal experience to return from "the greatest trip ever" to find your house has been ransacked. There's not only the sickening loss of valuables, but usually a mess to clean up — particularly if the intruders found your liquor closet.

Short of a 24-hour armed guard, there's no absolute guarantee your house won't be violated while you're away. But there are many things you can do to minimize this, so you won't suffer the dreadful letdown of returning to a burgled house.

Any good Police Department will truly welcome your notifying them you'll be away, especially if you live in the country where the State Police are in charge. Patrolling troopers will make it a point to stop by, look around and see if everything's as it should be.

Forget Editor

Never let the local editor know you're planning a trip. All too often, a Society Page item like "Bryan family plans August fishing trip in British Columbia" is followed by a Front Page article: "Bryan house burgled during vacation trip." Travel and society columns are carefully read by more than the bridge and country club set; those who make a try of breaking into unoccupied houses give these columns very close attention. If they read about a house that will be empty during a certain period, they can plan a profitable visit in your absence. So it's much safer, as far as your house is concerned, to have the newspaper item read: "Bryan family returns from Canadian fishing trip."

As for the house itself, try to maintain an appearance of business-as-usual: If your lawns and flower beds normally look well-kept, make arrangements to have the grass cut once a week. Saturday is a good day; it shows week-end activity going on.

Needless to say, an overflowing mail box is a dead give-away. Either have the post office forward all first class mail and hold the rest, or ask a neighbor to collect yours (you'll do the same for him when he goes vacationing).

Cancel Deliveries

Cancel all deliveries of newspapers, milk, laundry, diaper services. Many newspapers have services to forward copies to vacation addresses.

If you feel you must leave a key somewhere, as most people do, do NOT put it under the mat, over the door, in the mail box, or any other of the famous places known to all. Leave it with a trusted neighbor. If he'll come over and look around periodically, so much the better.

But caution the neighbor about an oft-tried trick: If a purported delivery man shows up with a package for you, the neighbor should not lend the man your key so he can "just leave the package inside the door." It only takes a few seconds for him to open the front door, put down the package, then race inside to unlatch a back door or window, lock the front door and return the key promptly. With that rear door or window unlatched, the man "has it made" any night he chooses.

Admittedly, there are problems about closed doors and windows, and a completely darkened house during summer evenings. There are burglar alarms, and lights that automatically go on at dusk and off at dawn; the latter are quite new and relatively inexpensive. I have heard of amateur geniuses who rigged up the clock radio and a few lights to turn themselves on at sundown until midnight, and cases of using automatic outdoor flood lights.

Others may have additional ideas on assuring the house's integrity during a vacation absence. But the principle behind these suggestions have been checked in out quite successfully. Furthermore, they're readily adaptable to almost any circumstances. So here's hoping you'll find them of help again!

Admits Indirect Link With Nazis

WASHINGTON (AP)—An army map service employee, under fire from a congressman, acknowledged that he belongs to an organization associated with the American Nazi Party.

At the same time the man, Schuyler D. Ferris, indicated he may charge the army with "persecuting" him for his political beliefs.

Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., wrote Wednesday to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in reference to Ferris:

"I do not understand how the United States government can justify continued employment of an individual so unstable politically that he facilitates totalitarian extremism and propaganda."

"He is hardly the man to have access to our strategic maps at a time when the nation is mobilizing in response to the president's call for military alert."

The defense department said Thursday it had been investigating Ferris since a report was received in May that Ferris was involved in the picketing of the movie "Exodus" in Philadelphia.

At the time of the investigation, Ferris was a member of the movie "Exodus" in Philadelphia.

State Non-Resident Workers Will Have to Pay Income Tax

Expect New Act Effective Last Week Could Yield $5,000,000

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The first serious effort to force non-residents who earn their livelihoods in Wisconsin to contribute to the cost of Wisconsin public services through income tax assessments is under way.

Up to 50,000 Wisconsin wage-earners of all kinds, some corporation executives, transient employees and others are likely to be caught up in the new net of the state tax department provided in a legislative act that became effective last week. The non-resident tax liability is a part of the emergency act adopted by the Legislature and signed by the governor to eliminate the hazard of double taxation on Wisconsin residents who are employed in Minnesota, where a new payroll withholding method of income tax collections was recently put into effect.

$5 Million Yield
When State Department of Taxation technicians were asked to estimate the potential yield of non-resident taxes under a Wisconsin payroll deduction law, they estimated it at $5,000,000, at existing state personal income tax rates. There is a possibility that the income tax rate will be boosted substantially, if the sales tax legislation now being fought over in the Legislature fails to become law.

The Legislature and the governor were concerned about the income tax losses to Wisconsin communities on the Minnesota border that would result from the forgiveness of Wisconsin taxes owed by Wisconsin residents employed in Minnesota. The law provides that such indemnities to the Wisconsin local treasuries will be financed out of the new yields expected from the assessment upon the incomes of Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan residents employed in Wisconsin.

Gov. Nelson, who wants a Wisconsin withholding law to collect income taxes week by week from all persons employed in Wisconsin—resident and non-resident—complained as he signed the Minnesota tax credit law that it will be difficult to identify and collect from the non-residents under the new statute.

Trio Rescued After Boat Sinks in Lake

OSHKOSH — An Oshkosh policeman, John McDonald, 926A Winnebago Ave., his wife and his father were rescued from the Fox River and Gun Club island on Lake Butte des Morts early this morning after their boat hit a buoy post and sank about three quarters of a mile south of Winnebago.

The buoy post punctured the hull of the 20-foot outboard cruiser. McDonald managed to drive the boat onto a rock pile about 60 yards off the island. The trio then made it to the island where they were rescued by the Oshkosh City Police boat.

The accident was witnessed by Mrs. Jay Left, who called the sheriff's department at 12:52 a.m. today.

The boat sank with only a portion of the hull remaining above water. McDonald estimated damage to his boat at $3,000. He reported he planned to raise the boat with a crane today.

The new high is 2 per cent more than for the same period a year ago and is a net gain of 620 during the last two months.

Members of the Bar Association met with the committee to discuss the court reorganization. William Crane, chairman of the Association's court reorganization committee, presented figures showing the increasing case load for each of the courts since 1945. They also discussed potential problems if a third branch of the county court is established to sit in Neenah-Menasha on a part-time basis, primarily courtroom facilities.

Lockage Times Won't Change

Army Notes Rumors Schedule Will be Altered on Fox

Rumors that hours for lockage operations on the lower Fox River were to be reduced were squelched Friday by the District Engineer, U. S. Army Engineer District, Chicago.

But a study of efficiency of operations may lead to changes in schedule for next season, Col. J. A. Sneddie, district engineer, stated.

"At the present times," he said, "we are merely collecting statistical information on the number of lockages made each hour of each day."

If the study shows that changes can be made reducing costs without interfering with navigation, an outline of proposed revised schedules will be available for public comment.

"However," the colonel emphasized, "no changes in the present schedule will be made this navigation season."

Woman Injured as Car Hits Truck

OSHKOSH — Virginia M. Betley, 22, Union Grove, Wis., was injured Thursday when her car hit the rear of a truck on U.S. 41 south of its intersection with EE.

She was taken to Theda Clark Hospital by the Neenah ambulance. She was treated as an outpatient for bruises on her back and a piece of glass in the palm of her right hand, then released.

Miss Betley told Winnebago County police she was going north on U.S. 41 when the truck, driven by James Strong, 66, of 204 W. Seymour St., Appleton, pulled off from a side road and turned north into her lane of traffic. She said she applied her brakes, the truck skidded and struck the rear end of the truck.

She was thrown from the car, she said, and almost hit by another car.

New Bill Affects Wisconsin Coroners

Wisconsin coroners will receive official notification of more deaths under terms of a new bill passed by the Legislature.

The bill requires sheriffs or chiefs of police to notify coroners immediately of the death of any person who has not been under the care of a physician for 30 days prior to death. Many other states have enacted similar legislation. Kentucky, for instance, has a 10 instead of 30-day limit.

Missionaries to Speak

The Rev. and Mrs. David Wakefield, missionaries recently returned from Dahomey, West Africa, will speak at First Assembly of God Church at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Lockage Times Won't Change

Employment gains are expected in retail trade with the opening of school and coming holiday seasons. Some increase should be noted in machinery, also, the manager says.

But these gains will be largely offset by adjustments in other industrial groups, necessary to meet anticipated seasonal lower employment requirements, he said.

The new-hire rate reflects the seasonal upswing, Gehrke points out. It increased from 11 persons out of every 1,000 employed in April to 25 for every 1,000 during June.

Voluntary separations increased from 12 to 15 for every 1,000 employed, while rehires and recalls totaled 18 for every 1,000.

The demand for workers, in most instances, will cover only necessary replacements, particularly in the manufacturing field, Gehrke expects.

Need Skilled Workers

"However, there is a strong possibility that replacement demands may be accelerated somewhat in view of the possible increase in military selective service and mobilization of reservists," he said.

Demands for skilled workers in all fields are becoming more difficult to meet because of the lack of qualified workers. The demand for office workers, for the present at least, is in balance with the supply, he says.

With the exception of skilled workers and some isolated professional categories the supply of workers is adequate to meet the demand.

The number of job seekers registered at the WSES office is 20 per cent greater than two months ago and 15 per cent greater than a year ago, but this increase is due mostly to persons still looking for summer jobs.

During July, the Appleton WSES office, which covers all of Outagamie and Waupaca Counties, referred 214 persons to jobs, compared to 339 in June and 238 a year ago.

Of those referred, 116 were hired, compared to 290 in June and 105 a year ago.

Job openings reported to the office in July totaled 146, compared to 227 a month ago, and 151 in July, 1960.

The file of those actively looking for work in July totaled 1,753, compared to 2,194 in June and 1,398 a year ago.

Firm Reports Better First Half in 1961

Increases in consolidated sales and profits for the first half of 1961 compared to the first half of 1960 were reported by The Trane Co., La Crosse, manufacturer of air conditioning, heat person who has not been under the care of a physician for 30 days prior to death. Many other states have enacted similar legislation. Kentucky, for instance, has a 10 instead of 30-day limit.

Net earnings per share for the second quarter of this year were 62 cents; $1.11 for the first half. This compares with net earnings of 67 cents per share for the second quarter of 1960; 97 cents for the first half.

This Year's Freshmen at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center have been taking interest and aptitude tests at the center lecture hall. This group of new students appeared to be so intent on the examination they didn't even notice the photographer.

Dale Family's Dog Turns Mailman

BY JOHN SAWALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

DALE — The daily chore of going to the post office for the mail has been eliminated for the Dallas Heuer family. The trip is being made by Champ the family's pet golden retriever.

Mrs. Heuer said Champ always went along to the post office with the children. About three weeks ago he started picking up the mail by himself from Mrs. Velma Grossman, the postmaster at the small post office about two blocks from the Heuer home. Champ also is a good mailman. He will not give the mail to anyone except Mrs. Heuer, although 9-year-old Steve seems to be Champ's favorite Heuer. He will not let Steve take the mail into the house, but will wait until Mrs. Heuer comes to the door to take it from him.

Other Talents
Champ is 6 years old. He originally was purchased as a hunting dog but has shown many other talents other than hunting.

The Heuers have two other children, Jeff, 6, and Debra, 4. When any of the children are playing outside, Champ watches them constantly so they do not go into the street. Mrs. Heuer said when they get close to the curb he will push them back on to the lawn.

In the winter, one of Champ's chores is to pull the children around on a sled.

Waits For Master
When Steve, who is now in the fourth grade started school, Champ had trouble adjusting himself to having Steve gone all day. He has accepted the idea of Steve being gone. When school is out Champ is sitting on the sidewalk waiting for Steve.

Champ has a birthday coming in September. Mrs. Heuer said she has to bake him a birthday cake, because the children feel he is entitled to one just as much as they are.

When the family goes on an outing on the family house boat Champ goes along with them. He goes where ever the children go.

Portugal Faces Trouble Buildup In Timor Island

Struggle in Angola Triggers Agitation By Indonesians

BY PETER ARNETT

KUPANG, Indonesian Timor (AP)—New trouble is developing for Portugal on this remote wind-swept island.

Indonesia shares Timor with Portugal, and there are indications that the firmest assault on Portuguese sovereignty here since the World War II Japanese occupation is shaping up.

Timor lies at the southeastern tip of the Indonesian archipelago, two hours flying time from Australia. It is 310 miles long, 65 miles at its widest, and has a population of about a million.

Possible Incident
All ingredients for international incident are here—increasing tension at the Portuguese-Indonesian border, an embryo "freedom movement," and a neighbor hostile to colonial policies. This neighbor—Indonesia — occupies roughly the western half of the island, Portugal the eastern.

Portuguese authorities in the past few weeks have almost closed the normally relaxed border between the two after sharp Indonesian criticism of Portugal because of the Angola situation. The Indonesian military is investigating a "freedom movement" which has been distributing pamphlets in the Indonesian portion of Timor calling for support to the Portuguese.

Pamphlets printed in the Indonesian language call for support to the "freedom struggle of the Timorese people." Military men studied to determine their source. A Jakarta address of the Timor-rese freedom group headquarters proved spurious.

The military here is wary of possible involvement in any "freedom struggle" in Portuguese Timor which might weaken the Indonesian case against the Dutch for possession of Netherlands-occupied West New Guinea.

The official Indonesian attitude toward Portuguese Timor: not interested now. But government officials tend to feel a Timor freed of Portuguese "colonialism" would naturally become part of the Indonesian republic.

Kennedy Confers With Stevenson

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy and Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson sit down today for a point-by-point review of U.S. strategy in the upcoming General Assembly of the United Nations.

Their conference is expected to last for many hours. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, will remain overnight as Kennedy's guest at the Cape Cod summer White House.

Also on hand is Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs, who flew from the capital with Kennedy late Friday and is spending the week end at nearby Harwichport.

Stevenson gave Kennedy a preliminary report Thursday on his recent trip to Europe, during which he conferred with French President Charles de Gaulle, among others.

Steve Heuer, 9, who lives in Dale, has had his daily duties reduced. The chore of going to the post office daily has been taken over by "Champ" his 6-year old golden retriever. Champ used to go to the post office, two blocks from the Heuer home, with Steve every day. About three weeks ago he started picking up the mail himself. "Champ" is given the mail by Mrs. Velma Grossman, postmaster at the small Dale Post Office. Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Heuer. He takes the letter from Champ.

Counties Can Reward Employee Suggestions

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

MADISON — County courthouse workers have been offered a new incentive for contributing to more efficient operations of their public services.

A new state law authorizes counties to set up a suggestions award program for county employees, as a means of rewarding unusual and meritorious suggestions and accomplishments. The program follows a similar awards program administered by the state government on behalf of its civil servants.

Henry Schucknecht, 28, 403 E. South River St., and Melvin Schucknecht, 26, 1527 1/2 N. Alvin St., in a truck that rolled 2 1/2 times Thursday, returned to work Friday.

Henry, the driver of the truck of the "freedom struggle of the Timorese people," which has been distributing pamphlets in the Indonesian portion of Timor calling for support to the Portuguese.

Non-Resident Workers Must Pay Income Tax

The lucky response of such non residents during the state of Wisconsin for the first time will be historic, they expect.

Such persons will be loath to file state tax returns to Madison voluntarily, it is assumed. But the state tax administration is prepared to make its own case against such persons, and then to file garnishment actions in the county courts in the localities where such persons are employed and earn money.

It is possible that there may be attachment of the personal property of such non residents owing taxes, such as their automobiles, one state official said.

Presumably the regular Wisconsin corporation income tax auditing procedure will uncover the names of employees of Wisconsin businesses who live outside the state lines, and have not heretofore been bothered with state income tax liability.

Difficult Collection

Tax officials concede that many such persons may be liable for amounts that are too small to justify comparatively expensive collection procedures, such as garnishment suits in the courts. Transient workers, including those on construction projects probably could defy the Wisconsin non-resident liability law with impunity.

The drive against non-residents has thus far been publicized largely in terms of the large employment centers at Kenosha and Beloit, where some thousands of Illinois residents are employed. But there are other nuggets of new potential tax yields in the similar worker migrations into Wisconsin from such communities as Menominee and Ironwood, Mich., Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn., from rural Minnesota and Iowa into the cities of LaCrosse and in southwestern Wisconsin's Grant County and vicinity.

Giddings, Lewis Reports Gains
FOUND LAC, AP — Giddings & Lewis Machine Tool Co. reports today that "business is looking up" and for the first six months of 1961 the firm showed net earnings of $57,715 compared with a loss of $148,516 during the same period a year ago.

Net sales were down, from $8.7 million to $7.4 million, but a "drastic cost reduction and reorganization" announced last year trimmed operating expenses from $8.9 million to $7.3 million and moved the firm into the black.

Kaukauna Machine Co. is a division of Giddings & Lewis.

Paste Paper Over Lemon To Make Handy Pig Bank

BY CAPPY DICK

For two or three days to allow the paste to harden all the way bank? Here's how to do it with through. With a sharp knife, cut the lemon in half. Rub a coating of cold cream, lard or petroleum jelly all over it. (Figure 2). Because the lemon was greased before the paper was pasted on, it will be easy to pry apart into small pieces. Make the lemon halves from the paper a bowl of flour-and-water paste. shell. Fit the hollow shell together. These materials are shown in and cover the seam with a strip of paper.

Dip the pieces of paper, one or two at a time, into the paste, then press them flat upon the lemon. Cover the entire lemon with a layer, then another and another, continuing until you have made the paper-and-paste covering nearly a quarter-inch thick. Set the lemon aside

1. How big does the American bullfrog become?

2. What is the major league baseball record for number of consecutive scoreless innings by a pitcher?

3. What is the meaning of the familiar Latin expression, "non compos mentis"?

4. Who won the Academy Award for best-supporting actor in a movie during 1960?

5. Who originated the popular-used phrase, "Mutual Admiration Society"?

ANSWERS

- It may reach a length of eight inches in the body and have ten-inch hind legs. Even larger species are found in Africa and the East Indies, where some are large enough to eat rats, bats, and snakes.
- Walter Johnson, of the Washington Senators, at one time in his career held the opposition scoreless for 36 consecutive innings.
- Mentally deficient.
- Peter Ustinov, for his performance in "Spartacus."
- Oliver Wendell Holmes, in his "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table."

of paper dipped into flour paste. With a pocketknife, carve a slot in the top of the shell, big enough to insert quarters. Makes holes in the underside of the shell into which pieces of pipe cleaner can be fitted for the pig's short, stubby legs. Use a piece of curved wire for its tail, fitting it into a small hole. Cover the pipe cleaner legs with bits of paper-and-paste, adding enough paper to make the legs thick. By adding more paper to one end of the shell you can build up a pig's head, snout and ears as in Figure 2.

Allow the new paper and paste to dry, then drop money through the slot in the pig's back. When you want to get the money out, simply cut the halves apart at the seam which can later be closed again with a new strip of paper and paste.

Market Jumps To Record High Following Talk

Arms Buildup Just Adds to Momentum Of Business Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—When the stock market closed Tuesday, July 25, the Dow Jones price index of 30 leading industrial stocks stood at 696.37.

That night President Kennedy told the nation he proposed to step up defense spending sharply and increase the size of the armed forces.

When the market closed Tuesday, Aug. 1, the index stood at 713.94, a record high.

Congress had been quick to start legislative moves to put the President's plans in motion. Stock traders had been even quicker to put their own evaluation on what lies ahead for business.

This doesn't mean that prices necessarily will advance steadily, nor that stock traders may have second thoughts now and then. The President's move, however, was just what the market needed to move it out of a period of hesitation.

For business, as distinguished from the stock market, the new arms buildup merely adds momentum to a move already under way. Even before the President spoke, business fully expected steadily increasing activity in the months ahead.

Industry Ready

And the extra government spending will come at a time when industry is particularly ready and able both to meet the demands to be put upon it and to profit from the government's action.

Many industries have idle capacity. This means that any increase in demand can be easily handled. Also, the nation's stubborn total of unemployment means that the manpower, except for some specialized skills, is available.

For stockholders the prospects are even brighter. Profits already have started to rise from their recession setback. As sales rise, profits should rise at an even faster pace. That's what stock traders are looking for.

A call of reserves and militia could hurt some companies if they lost key men. But here, too, the growing labor force and the large number of jobless mean business can adjust more easily than if the Berlin crisis had come during boom times and a labor shortage.

Most firms have their inventories in good shape. Excess stocks have been used up. Supplies are available if business spurts.

Companies with overseas connections also see more opportunities in the offing, now that the threat of a possible trade war between two rival European blocs seems dim.

Further Growth in Europe

The move of England, Denmark, Norway and Ireland to seek close ties with the Common Market nations—France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg—forecasts further growth in the already booming European economy. That can mean more demand for American industrial materials and perhaps for American consumers goods to be sold to more prosperous Europeans.

All this is why the stock market has taken on a rosy glow. But Wall Street is a place of quickly changing moods. And the cautious will remember that. In today's world there are many probabilities but few iron clad certainties.

Folklorist Proves Point, Bank Honors Check on Shingle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas folklorist J. Frank Dobie recently remarked to Editor Edward Weeks of Atlantic Monthly magazine that his banker would honor his check on anything—even a wooden roof shingle.

The other day Dobie received through the mail a 10x18-inch shingle with a note reading: "Try this shingle on your banker."

Dobie did, in payment for literary books, and Capital National Bank honored it, as Dobie observed: "How the bank runs that check through its complicated bookkeeping machinery is the bank's problem."

Nikita Aims Observations On Kennedy

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev thinks President Kennedy is a complex man who listens to the loudest shouters. This thumbnail estimate came out during Khrushchev's talks this week with visiting Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani.

A competent informant gave an account. Khrushchev's views of the young American President he met last June in Vienna came up during a discussion of the Berlin crisis.

The Soviet premier said he felt Kennedy's attitude on the Berlin situation was not actually as strong as the position Kennedy took on his recent speech.

Kennedy More Complex

Fanfani asked why Khrushchev didn't approach negotiations with that in mind.

Khrushchev's reply was that he considers Kennedy complex — more complex than the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He did not elaborate.

He added that in the United States everybody shouted and the man who shouts loudest wins. And Kennedy, he told Fanfani, then listens to the loudest.

Khrushchev said he considers Kennedy's Berlin speech excessively belligerent.

It made him mad, the premier said, and he planned to reply soon in a speech. It is expected sometime next week.

NAACP President Wins New Trial In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of the Los Angeles chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has won a new trial on a charge he interfered with police officers trying to arrest a Negro woman.

Municipal Judge Vernon W. Hunt ordered the retrial Thursday. But he refused to set aside Edward D. Warren's conviction on a second charge—that of failing to obey officers' orders to leave the scene.

Police said they were trying to arrest the woman on a drunk charge June 3 when the incident occurred.

Warren will be retried on the interference charge Aug. 29. He will be sentenced on the disobedience count Sept. 12.

Motor Fire Kills Nursery With Smoke; Infants Not Hurt

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Smoke from a refrigerator motor fire killed a hospital nursery Thursday night, but rescuers carried 30 newborn babies to safety. Authorities at McDonald House of University Hospitals said the babies were in good condition and suffered no apparent aftereffects. A nurse smelled the smoke and alerted the hospital telephone operator, who turned in a general alarm. Scores of hospital employees, nurses, doctors and aides responded. Some rescuers ran out of the smoke-filled area with an infant under each arm.

The formula-loaded refrigerator was in the nursery. Thirty mothers, aware of the situation at the other end of the hall, did not panic. The smoke did not reach them. They stayed in their rooms.

Fear Dying Down Medical X-Ray Uses Regaining Public Favor

BY ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Chicago Daily News Service
CHICAGO — Five years ago this summer, the medical profession was shaken up by a report from the National Academy of Sciences that medical radiation was the largest contributor to man-made radiation exposure. It charged that X-rays, one of medicine's greatest life-saving weapons, were being used ignorantly, that many operators were ignorant of dosages given and that many machines were dangerous and insufficiently shielded. Anxiety developed in the public. Many persons refused needed X-rays. Patients called to cancel appointments for dental X-ray examinations. Mass X-ray chest screening fell off.

What is the picture five years later?

Reappraisal
A sober reappraisal has been taking place, says William C. Stronach, executive secretary of the American College of radiology, with headquarters in Chicago.

It has brought about an educational program to reduce unnecessary radiation exposure, particularly among non-radiologists who use X-ray equipment.

It has shown that radiation to the reproductive system can be reduced in some instances by 75 to 85 per cent without impairing the effectiveness of diagnostic examinations.

Public anxiety has moderated. Resistance to needed irradiation has diminished.

"Physicians," said Stronach, "are asking themselves the question: 'Is the anticipated good from radiation greater than the real or theoretical risk?' Often, a treatment other than radiation is decided upon."

Improved Picture
In the dental field, Dr. Seymour H. Yale of the University of Illinois says a 10-state study shows that radiation hygiene in dental offices has improved.

An increasing number of dentists use properly filtered dental X-ray machines and high speed dental X-ray film.

What has happened in the intervening years to fallout, another source of radiation?

Dr. Philip F. Gustafson of the University of Wisconsin says the fallout contamination in 1961 is only about 1 per cent of the natural background rate.

In 1958, when testing by the United States and Russia was at a peak, the proportion was 10 per cent.

Sen. Proxmire Loses Try to Cut Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate rejected 87-4, Thursday an effort by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to slash from its defense appropriation bill $525 million earmarked for production of long and Associates, Fox Valley Range heavy jet bombers. Voting with Proxmire for the cut were Sens. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., and Thurston Morton, R-Ky., and Al J. Ellender, D-La.

Return Zone Petition to Commission

Law Firm Wants To Build Offices Where Home Stands

A petition by the Van Susteren law firm to rezone a lot at the southeast corner of Lawrence and State Streets, from multiple family to commercial and light industrial, has been returned to the planning commission for more study.

The commission had recommended denying the request. Councilmen decided it should be given more consideration after hearing four persons speak at a public hearing.

Urban Van Susteren said his firm wants to buy an old three-family dwelling, tear it down and build new law offices.

"It would be of a colonial type, and look more like a house than an office building," Gerard Patterson, an associate of Van Susteren's said. "It probably will have whitewashed brick and shutters — something like Daniel Webster probably practiced law in."

Set Back Line

Van Susteren said his firm won't buy the property unless it is rezoned. He criticized the planning commission's requirement for a 10-foot set back line.

Ald. Thomas Schneider, a member of the planning commission, said a 10-foot set back has been established for the entire south side of Lawrence Street.

He said the commission was against rezoning this one parcel of land because it would be spot-zoning. "We think the whole block should be rezoned," he said.

Owner Would Favor Act

Roland Voss, 812 W. Oklahoma St., who owns an adjoining piece of property, said he would favor rezoning the entire block.

John Verhoeven, who owns another adjacent property said he would like to have the corner rezoned. That building is an eyesore," he said, "and almost was condemned once. The building they want to put up there would be an improvement." But he said he was against rezoning the entire block.

Patterson quoted from three reports by Kenneth L. Schellie and Associates, Fox Valley Regional Planners, to show that rezoning was warranted and needed. Sens. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., and Thurston Morton, R-Ky., and Al J. Ellender, D-La.

To Your Good Health

Bursitis Caused by Swelling In Fluid Sacs Near Joints

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH 14
BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Sir: My husband is suffering from bursitis for the first time. I would like to know more about this disease. If it is not treated correctly, what would happen?"

Mrs. H.G.H.
This is sort of a back-handed way to go at things, isn't it? Asking what would happen "if it is not treated correctly?"

Well, the simplest answer is that if bursitis isn't treated correctly (whether by the doctor or the patient himself) the result is that it hurts more and longer. It also can become chronic and you then have it rather permanently.

But why look at the bad side? Let's go at the subject logically. A bursa is a small sac filled with a semi-viscous fluid, which nature places near a joint to protect the joint from injury.

Now if a bursa is compelled to take too much "pushing around," it becomes inflamed. The sac becomes too full of fluid; the inflamed tissues are, as the saying goes, sore as a boil; there is swelling; any touch or bump hurts, and it may be painful just to move the afflicted joint at all. That is bursitis.

The trouble may start as the result of a blow, or from over use or perhaps too much continued pressure. Bursitis used to occur quite frequently in the knee or knees of scrub women, and we called it "housemaid's knee." But now knee pads are used or else other methods of scrubbing floors are employed.

Common Spot

In the elbow it's "tennis elbow," or "chauffeur's elbow," get rid of it the easy way. For because sometimes people who your copy write to Dr. Molner in drive for many hours a day get in care of this newspaper, enclosing the habit of resting an arm on a long, self-addressed, stamped the edge of the door, and the envelope and 5c in coin to cover pressure, if coming in just the cost of handling.

But the commonest place of all for bursitis these days is in the shoulder.

The first rule of treatment is to rest the inflamed joints, keep it quiet, keep pressure off it. Apply heat, either soaking it in warm water, or warm water with epsom salts, or the like.

If these treatments suffice, as they often do, fine. In more severe cases, injection of cortisone or similar drugs is often the answer. But X-ray treatment may also help.

In the callous older days, housemaids sometimes painfully kept at their work, until the swelling on their knees, in some cases, became as big as half a baseball. Nothing short of surgery and protracted rest could help them.

But today with reasonable and conservative treatment, an inflamed bursa calms down. After that you just exercise logical care not to hit it or put too much pressure on it.

Son Won't Talk

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a son four years old. He does not express himself as well as he should. When asked if he wants something he replies yes or no. But he won't say anything on his own. He just starts crying. If you ask what is wrong, he says nothing and continues crying. He breaks his toys up. He fights with other children. He will start at the University Mental Health Clinic for Children as soon as there is an opening. Is there anything I can do to help him until then?"—C.T."

I don't think so, except to be kind and gentle and don't try to put pressure on him. Keep life as simple as possible for him. The little fellow is one more example of why we so desperately need more mental health clinics.

"The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to lose weight the easy way.
